

Newsletter January 2018

From the Chair,

As I write this it is still early January. I am still wishing people a Happy New Year and remembering when signing and dating things to put 2018 not 2017! I hope that you all had an enjoyable holiday season, celebrating with family and friends. My commiserations to any of you who contracted the "lurgi". Linda and I were lucky enough to avoid it but we know many people who were unwell.

A newspaper article recently told us to cheer up saying that Britain was still a great place to live. It set out to explain that despite all the ills that are befalling the world at present we have little to complain about. We have freedom of speech, religious and sexual tolerance (in the main), we have a low crime rate, there are high levels of employment (although we do have some black spots of high unemployment and social deprivation). There is a free press and the judiciary retain their independence and the law deals with people fairly and honestly. There are many, many countries in the world that do not enjoy such freedoms and some are nearer than you think.

And here in East Northants we have Higham and Rushden U3A – an organisation that we can be proud of, that helps and supports the third age community, enabling us to continue to enjoy a meaningful life after our working life has ended. Long may it prosper! Phil Grace

U3A Diaries will be on sale at the Monthly meeting - they will be on the Treasurer's table. If we run out and you are unable to purchase from the National website yourself please leave your name with the Treasurer" Phil

Stanwick Handbell Ringers

It was “DING DONG MERRILY ON HIGH” at the Christmas meeting of the History Group at Rushden Full Gospel Church. The members were entertained by the Stanwick Handbell Ringers by both a performance and a history of Handbell ringing and some famous carols.

The Ringers had managed to obtain funding from THE NATIONAL LOTTERY, THE MIDLAND CO-OP GROUP AND NORTHANTS COUNTY COUNCIL as the total cost of the bells could be over £18000. Ringers demonstrated the different techniques used for the bell sounds, much more complicated and subtle than any of us had imagined. We can be proud that the clappers in the bell are made of Leather from Northamptonshire.

Many well-known songs were written by Gene Autry in 1949 and 1953 such as “Rudolph “and “Frosty” . Isaac Watts wrote the ever popular and melodic “Joy to the World “ in 1719 and the music is attributed to Handel. Instead of a pantomime we had a performance of” Goldilocks and the Three Bears “from the Ringers. All were impressed by their skill and versatility creating a lovely Christmas celebration for the History Group.

Audience participation in true festive spirit took place as we sang from the Bethlehem song sheet always remembering the Conductor’s tongue in cheek advice “The conductor is there as a barrier between the musicians and the audience. Remember not to look at him!”

Father Christmas arrived to give the vote of thanks, thank the committee and draw the raffle before we all enjoyed some festive fare.

New Year – New Group

We am hoping to start a new group which we shall call Holiday Spanish. If you would like to brush up your Spanish or simply practice it between friends or learn enough to be able to book a room at a hotel, book a table at a restaurant, be able to chat with locals about the weather, know what you are ordering, know how to asks for directions and understand the answer and to know your numbers then we would like to hear from you.

If you are interested then please contact Mike Mimms.

BookMarks

Our meeting in December took on a festive feel with the group sharing some seasonal readings. We were also pleased to welcome two new members, Carol and Jan. The library was hosting an inter-generational Rhyme Time during our session, but we weren't quite near enough to join in with 'Jingle Bells'!

Chris Freeman kicked off with a summary of her festive book – 'When Christmas Bells Ring', by best-selling author Katie Flynn: it's Christmas 1938 in the courts of Liverpool and a single mother and her mischievous twin daughters have no idea what cataclysmic events will soon overtake them.... Still in the 1930s, Ann Kemp had read 'Mystery in White: a Christmas Crime Story' by J Jefferson Farjeon. On Christmas Eve, a heavy snowfall causes a train to halt and some of its passengers are forced to take shelter in a house where all seems ready for guests but is deserted. A bread knife lies on the kitchen floor.....ooer!

Jan had bought along 'The Good Housekeeping Christmas Book, 1922-1962'. We were amused by the advice on tasks to be done by the maid in the earlier years, and to give one's wife a new fangled washing machine as a suitable Christmas present! Brian's contribution was a piece from the seasonal 'Penhaligon's Scented Treasury of Verse and Prose' (though old, it still had a scented whiff!). In this volume, George Bernard Shaw describes Christmas as an 'Atrocious Institution' which, though written in 1893, contained lots of concerns that we still have today about the over-commercialisation and greed at Christmastime. In a lighter vein, Margaret had read a bit of a tear-jerker, 'Christmas at Battersea' – short stories about abandoned dogs, great and small. We were all glad of a cuppa and a mince pie by the end of all this!

We kick off next year with the first crime novel by Tony Parson's – 'The Murder Bag'. Enter DC Max Wolfe, single parent, defender of the weak, and every murderer's worst nightmare... Dominica Jones

Singing For Fun.

We have had to change the date of our concert next May to Saturday 12th May. It will be held at the Heritage Centre and will be "Songs of the Sixties" starting at 7 P.M., The date we had before clashed with "The Wedding" and The Cup Final.

We have already started rehearsals and we have also decided that we will be raising money for Alzheimer's. So keep that date clear and help us raise a goodly sum and enjoy the entertainment. Gerry(PO Singing for Fun)

Bird Watching

The bird watching group aims to meet on the first Tuesday of the month regardless of the weather which can be challenging at times, especially for our January meeting when heavy rain was forecast from 10am until 1pm. The meeting was at College Lake near Tring, a fairly new reserve based in an old chalk quarry with good facilities – visitor centre, toilets, café and several hides. Soon after setting off to walk around the we realised the rain had set in and returned to the large hide by the centre deciding to wait in the dry and see what would turn up. In fact this turned out to be quite a good tactic as the hide is on the lip of the quarry overlooking most of the reserve and we were able to see most of the normal winter wildfowl plus bullfinch and goldcrest. Water rail had been reportedly seen in the reeds on the first island in front of us and after keeping a sharp eye on the reeds we eventually caught a glimpse of it moving from one clump to another.

Water rail is a very shy secretive bird which spends most of its time deep in reed beds only venturing out occasionally in winter to feed. In fact later it came out into full view on the grassy bank behind the reeds where it was possible to get a comparison with the rather similar moorhen. We retired to the visitor centre for a light lunch where we were able to see a few more birds which were visiting the feeding station outside.

After lunch we made a short visit to the Natural History museum in Tring where the bird gallery has specimens of virtually all British birds on display. It was interesting to get up close to birds we usually see a long way away and most were considerably smaller than expected. Overall a very enjoyable meeting despite the weather. Chris Ebden

There is a café and toilet facilities within the park, and for members who at the end of the walk like to go on to Sunday lunch, we will lunch at The Bell, Odell. We have been there before and the service and food are very good for a variety of choices including a roast lunch or sandwiches, toasties etc.

History

History talk January 4th.

Delapre Abbey. Past ,Present and Future

A post-Christmas talk with the title Past Present and Future one might have expected 3 ghosts to appear as in the many on screen presentations of Scrooge's experiences. Instead our speaker was an enthusiastic Lancashire Lass called Fay Morrissey who led us through the varied history of Delapre Abbey and the ambitious plans for its future.

The site was once the home of the Cluny Nuns founded in 1145. Later in 1291 King Edward 1 rested there as he accompanied the coffin of his wife Queen Eleanor to London and the memorial cross is being restored near the Abbey. Henry the Eighth had a more turbulent marital record and following his break with Rome and resenting the power,wealth and corruption of the Church instigated the Dissolution of the monasteries .

Dalapre was sold despite a bribe attempt by the then Abbess of £266 and became in 1546 the property of the Tate Family. Seven generations of the Tate family ,with the eldest son being named Bartholomew lived there building and altering the house.

Zouche Tate continued the work and supervised the building of the west front of the Abbey. Mary Tate inherited the Abbey and married Sir Charles Hardy who became Governor of New York so spent very little time in Northampton. In 1764 the Bouverie Family purchased the Abbey for £22,000 . Part of what we would now call the Jet Set the family entertained the socialites of the time such as Sheridan and the Duchess of Devonshire.

By 1946 the house had been sold to Northamptonshire Borough Council who for a time used it as a Record Office and was in a state of disrepair. Joan Wake set up a campaign "Save the Abbey" raising £15,000 between 1958 and 1992. A Trust was formed in 2006 and by 2013 a fund matching £3.6 MILLION Lottery Fund was given to help with the restoration.

Work on Phase one has created a café and shop as well as meeting rooms with the aim for the Future for Delapre Abbey to be a place for School visits, Weddings and Conferences. More fund raising continues as out buildings are restored as workshops.In the Battle of Northampton in 1460 the Yorkists were triumphant at Delapre. Let us hope in the future that a Lancastrian can help with the success of Dalapre and I am sure the Members will wish to visit after such an excellent presentation. Ann Kemp 2018

Driving

Happy New Year hope you survived the festive season. Still have space if you want to polish up your winter driving skills. Foggy morning and icy streets are a bit hazardous – some simple tips will help you cope especially as all streets are not gritted these days. Do you know how to tell which streets are gritted? Wine Appreciation

Wine Appreciation

No group meeting in December but we had some good practice 'Turkey and Tinsel' in Bournemouth, found a lovely Rose which we encouraged others to share (you know who you are). Christmas in Lincoln – wines in the hotel not bad though expensive but found a good Nero d'Avola in Zizzis an Italian restaurant chain, they have one in Bedford. Not been yet though.

Welcome to our new Tuesday group, look forward to seeing you on 23rd January and continuing with the Thursday group on 25th January (Burns night may have a wee dram on offer!) Have some interesting wines planned for the year both groups will be tasting the same. Looking forward to it.
